NEWS of the wheat crop in Crawford county is enormous. And it was bad news for farmers. Under our intelligent system of agriculture and good crops in wheat or corn mean trouble and poor prices for the farmer.

The situation of government wheat "pyramiding" the price of wheat fell sharply yesterday. It was expected. In the wheat market dropped 12 1/2 cents in Chicago.

"Supply and demand" is the law of wheat and wheat farmers mourn about it. Wheat is a commodity and farmers mourn too much about it. Russia is the largest wheat producer in the world and the certainty of a wheat harvest, a crop of 300 million bushels, and a surplus of 100 million bushels, a great wheat crop means cash in Russia, sorrow for other nations. There must be good buyers in Russia, in spite of the fearful theories.

BOARD BANS MILK CANS ALONG ROAD

Health Officials Rule Drivers Must Get Containers from Coolers.

In an effort to reduce the volume of milk which is now being condemned each month as unfit and at the same time provide for milk reaching the city in better condition, the drivers of milk trucks during the summer months in the future will be required to go to the milk houses on each farm for the cans instead of having them placed along the roadside as has been the custom in the past. It was ruled yesterday by the city board of health at their monthly meeting in the office of the health commissioner, Dr. N. Siffritt.

The board voted to adopt the new ruling on a motion by Dr. S. W. Mattox and following the reading of the report of Dr. J. T. Gruber, milk and meat inspector. On a tour of inspection with Dr. Gruber to the various farms, Dr. Mattox said the drivers of the milk trucks had refused to go to the milk houses for the cans, and as a result the cans of milk frequently set along the roadside for several hours in the sun, before being picked up. Eighty gallons of milk was condemned by Dr. Gruber last month, according to his report.

The resolution adopted by the board provides that the cans shall be kept in the milk houses until called for by the drivers of the trucks, from May 1 until Oct. 1. Dr. Gruber also reported 22 vi-its to farms and nine inspections of pasteurized and raw milk distributors plants.

Hemorrhoid Sufferers

End Your Piles Without Salves or Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Henney & Cooper says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back. Adv.

Daily Proverb—"He who hath no ill fortune is clogged with good."

Announcement has been made that the necessary equipment for two-foot-square television pictures in the home is ready for the market, and thus the radio fan of the future may see what is going on in the world, as well as hear. It's a great age of invention, this in which we of today live!

Sir Malcolm Campbell, the world's fastest motorist, recently told a London gathering that six hours and twenty-eight minutes after six sheep had been turned over to the shearer over here the wool was prepared, spun, woven, made up into a suit and the suit was donned and being worn. Though the British have passed us in the making of speed records, Sir Malcolm hasn't any delusions, evidently, about American lack of speed in utilitarian matters.

Of the 421 murders listed in New York City in 1930, the police department there lists 107 as due to family or love affairs and 142 as the result of disputes, while gangsters' quarrels are held responsible for but forty-six. Still, come to think of it, even in New York the number of gangsters is small compared with the mass of population.

The country manifestly has become pretty well fed up on Niagara barrel stunts. Newspaper readers generally did not hear of the latest attempt to pass through the lower rapids till after it had failed, and the son of the man inside the barrel swam forty feet from the river bank and dragged the barrel ashore.

Chicago is said to be greatly worried over the possibility that she may soon be facing municipal bankruptcy. If it's any consolation to her, she is in no worse financial condition, size considered, than many other cities of the land, big and small. The truth is, that practically every American city has been expanding beyond its means.

The United States supreme court has held unconstitutional the Minnesota law authorizing the suppression of newspapers and other periodicals publishing matter deemed by the authorities to be defamatory of public officials or other persons or institutions. Without going into the legal aspect of the matter, it may be said of the law that the menace it offered by being a bulwark behind which guilty officials might work corruption was in itself enough to condemn it.

It has been proposed that the Canadian government nationalize the Canadian Pacific railroad, which would make all the railways of Canada government owned. The plan, no doubt, appeals to the management of the government-owned railroads, which are being shown up consistently by the privately-managed Canadian Pacific, but it will hardly appeal to the people of Canada other than those in the socialistically inclined sections of western Canada. The people of Canada as a whole appreciate the relative value of privately-owned and managed and government-owned roads.

Good for Ten Years.

Volume I of the fifteenth census of the United States, now available, will stand without parallel among reference books for the next ten years, as the corresponding volume for the fourteenth census stood before it. So far as is known the complete census set will include half a dozen volumes. Volume I deals with the number and distribution of inhabitants. In it one may find the total population for states, counties, and townships, or other minor civil divisions; for urban and rural areas; and for cities and other incorporated places.

In the section on Ohio, which takes up forty-one pages of the book's total of 1,268, are to be found a map showing counties, a brief history of the state, a table showing the state's population from 1800 to 1930, a table showing populations of principal cities and villages from the earliest census—as early as 1810 in the case of Cincinnati—a table showing population of counties, a table showing population of counties by civil divisions back to 1910, a table showing population of incorporated places for 1920 and 1930, and a table showing population of cities of 5,000 or over by wards for 1930.
Other state sections are, of course, identical with the one on Ohio.

In the United States summary there are sixteen tables, presenting information ranging from the total populations of areas to those of civil divisions and on down to vaguely described rural communities. "Urban" in the census, incidentally, means any place with more than 2,500 inhabitants. The 1930 census shows an urban population majority of 56.2 per cent. against a rural 43.8 per cent.

In this connection, it may be well to state that legally a city is a population center of 5,000 or more and all communities of less than 5,000 are villages. The census bureau, however, has classed all places with 2,500 or over as urban and classified places of less population as rural.

Canada Looking After Canada.

Some of our politicians are making the most of the opportunity to interpret Canada's upward tariff revision affecting the United States as an act of pure retaliation. In so doing they stray unpleasantly far from the safe course of truth.

When the Conservative party won the Canadian general election last summer, enactment of a high tariff bill was assured.
Such a bill was passed last September. It was described by Prime Minister Bennett, however, as a temporary measure. A more thorough overhauling of the Canadian tariff system was promised. Mr. Bennett's budget announcement of nearly 200 changes is the keeping of that promise. High tariff is the key plank in his party's platform, which is pledged to take half a billion dollars' worth of business away from the United States—not in retaliation, but in straightforward recognition of the soundness of tariff as a means of protecting Canadian business. Canada's party in power is wise enough to take a page out of America's book; Canadian workmen and capital must be kept busy.

Canada faces a problem of rehabilitation, in which there are many more serious things to think about than "getting even" with her enterprising neighbor to the south. In the words of George R. Holmes, who visited Canada last fall to write about the situation for International News service: "Nowhere in Canada—at least in governmental circles—is it admitted that the forthcoming Canadian tariff is retaliatory. If it seems to be, well, that is just too bad."

That is not to say, of course, that the Canadians are not conscious of the formidable trade rivalry of the United States. They are, and in raising rates on products derived in large quantities from the United States, they show it. But equally important in their consideration is the necessity of rehabilitating Canadian trade in the best way the world has found—protecting it by tariff, the wall behind which high standards develop.

Simple Enough.

The Prince of Wales went to South America on business a few months ago. His nation has things to sell, and he wanted to do his part to make selling easier. It will be remembered that when he returned to England he told business men that the reason they weren't getting results was because they weren't going after them. They had everything but the get-up-and-go spirit.

One place the English excel, as every informed person knows, is in mechanical construction. They have the fastest racing automobiles and airplanes. They make excellent engines, and know as much about flying as any group of people on earth.

The Argentine government, which knows this, is expected to give British aircraft constructors a half-million dollar contract for fifteen planes. The choice is being made with the strongest American competition on the ground. The British have been practicing some of the salesmanship their prince advised them to try.

It is often as simple as that. American business men who are complaining of a long sojourn in the doldrums might be surprised how quickly they could start a breeze by moving around. Managers who are cutting their sales forces when they ought to be increasing them, executives who are paring things to the bone instead of trying to build muscle on them, and prospective buyers who are scouting around in dark corners instead of working upright in the light would do well to reflect on what sales-manship of the old-fashioned hardy variety promises to do for Great Britain.

Thicker Slices of Ham.

Good leaders have put over weak campaigns and poor leaders have killed what might have been good campaigns. But every so often a campaign is started that is sure-fire—a "natural," in the parlance of showmen.

Such a one is sponsored by Congressman Cyrenus Cole, editor, publisher, author and voice of the people out in Iowa. Bigger and thicker slices of ham and bacon, is its slogan. That's enough. The country moves one step forward to a place immediately behind Congressman Cole. It slaps a collective slap on his shoulder.

The reasons are not hard to discover.
This morning thousands of hungry breakfast eaters ate bacon that either was sliced too thin or served too sparingly. Yesterday, thousands of housewives bought ham sliced so thin it became leathery in the frying pan.
And other thousands who dropped into drug stores yesterday for ham sandwiches were unsatisfied with the paper-thin slices served them.

At least, that's the theory of the thing. A successful campaign has to be about something on which people have strong convictions favorable to your side, and in the matter of ham and bacon there is general agreement that there always ought to be more. For the sake of satisfaction, as well as increasing meat consumption, a fervid campaign for thicker slices is a grand idea.

The French jury, before which Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger was tried for the slay-ing of her husband, evidently agreed with her attorney in his contention that "she is too beautiful to be bad." In any event it acquitted her, and offered another illustration of the fact that the gift of beauty is not necessarily "a fatal curse."

The Last Reunion.

The number of Confederate veterans still alive is estimated at 18,000 on the basis of the comparative size of the Union and Confederate armies, and the number of Union veterans receiving pensions. Historians estimate the maximum strength of the south at 700,000.

Today a handful of former Confederate patriots is meeting in Montgomery, Alabama, where the provisional Confederate congress met in February, 1861, to adopt a constitution and elect Jefferson Davis president of the Confederate States of America. It is a scene hallowed in the strong tradition of the unsuccessful southern union.

There never will be another official reunion after this one adjourns sine die. It is one more development in the long healing process of the deep wound that severed the South from the North in '61.

Editorial Opinion.

SPANISH REPUBLIC—SOVIET STYLE.

Precisely what kind of government do the Spanish republicans seek to establish? They have begun by acts that have an ominous flavor of soviet Russia. After laying great stress upon the importance of a constituent assembly to remake the constitution, they have undertaken to govern by decree. The provincial governments have been asked to suggest changes that could be so promulgated and to further association among the people for the study of social and cultural problems. More significantly, an order has been given out that all government officials shall refrain from attending officially any church ceremony. In a country with Spain's religious traditions this is a break with usage which may have serious consequences.

It was perhaps to be expected that the king's property would be confiscated, but the threat to try him in his absence suggests that the red influence of the new government may lead it into strange paths. There is a soviet touch in the refusal of the Morgan loan for stabl-izing the peso. This plan for maintaining Spanish credit and restoring commercial prosperity was one of the last achievements of the old regime. Its abandonment may have financial consequences of a serious sort. In the circumstance the disinclination of Great Britain and Italy to follow the example of France in recognizing the republican government is easily understood. It has yet to show its ability to maintain law and order and its intention to meet its international obligations. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

DRIVING DOLLARS INTO HIDING.

Wage-cutting not only reduces the buying power of those whose money is reduced, but also drives many other dollars into hiding.
This two-edged nature of the wage deflation sword is well expressed by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, in his warning to the New York Advertising Club.

"Consumers are just beginning to come into the buying field, as the good showing of department store sales in April indicates. The best way to turn them back and make them bury their money in the old sock is to cut wages."

The worker who still has a job, but who sees his neighbor's wage slashed, is going to be a very cautious purchaser, lest tomorrow his own spending margin is also sharply reduced. Thus wage-cutting, while it may reduce the cost of production for the moment, may enormously increase the selling cost if the goods so produced are doomed to gather dust in the warehouse, unpurchasable by consumers whose buying power has been pulled down by wage cuts.
Coming the day after D. F. Kelly, president of the National Dry Goods Association, warned his fellow-merchants of the dangers of wage-cutting, the plea of Dr. Klein is another indication of how many business leaders are questioning the merits of the demand for wage deflation. No manufacturer or merchant wants to drive his own customers out of the market.
General wage-cutting is sure to do it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Tuberculin Tests Aid.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Frequently undernourished infants are suspected of having tuberculosis. This is feared if the infant does not nurse well, loses weight and runs a temperature.

By means of the tuberculin test it can be determined whether an infant has tuberculosis or if the failing health is due to some other cause. If tuberculosis is present, these tests give positive evidence.

This method is of no value in the advanced stages of the disease. In such cases, however, it is not necessary for so refined a test to determine the nature of the ailment.

The tuberculin test is a simple procedure, hardly more than a few scratch marks on the arm. A vaccine is then applied to the scratches. The local reaction is the measure of the test. The degree of redness and swelling indicates whether the result is positive or negative.

If the test is reported as negative and there is a doubt of whether tuberculosis is present, the test should be repeated. A positive test of an infant under one year of age usually indicates active tuberculosis.

A positive reaction during the second year is not so serious. Infants of this age, even with a positive tuberculin test, often show no physical signs of tuberculosis. Further, they may never develop the disease.

After infancy the test becomes less and less reliable. The reactions then must always be interpreted in conjunction with the child's state of health.

Much unnecessary anxiety may be caused by the fear of tuberculosis. I know of a case where the parents were told their infant had tuberculosis. These poor people experienced great worry and anguish for many years. Today, this infant, grown to manhood, is an active Wall Street broker, enjoying the very best of health, never having had tuberculosis.

We must be extremely careful to form our judgment on the best of evidence. Great harm may be done by a hasty decision. It is almost as bad to have tuberculosis as for one to think he has it. The tuberculin test and laboratory data should be carefully weighed before a diagnosis is made. In the last analysis, these tests are hardly more than suggestions. They are not final by any means. They are helpful, of course, but he must not be misled by them.

Generally, tuberculosis in young children, when properly treated, certainly, may be entirely cured. Your doctor will tell you about the sanatoria where success marks the efforts to cure.

It was Sunday, June 4, Marion defeated Portsmouth, four to two, in an Ohio-State league game. Goulait and Smith were the battery for Marion, with Hart-wig and Beersin the points for the opposition.
General Rollif Brinkerhoff, a former member of the state board of charities, died at his home in Mansfield.

Dr. L. H. Bailey preached the annual bac-calureate sermon to the high school graduating class at Poworth M. E. church.
Nearly 200 children received first holy communion at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Mary's

J. A. Gosselin, of Olney avenue, was reported missing from his home since noon of Samuel Groves, of Caledonia, was found dead in bed, by his mother.

Miss Ione Wickless, of Caledonia, and Mr.

Einstein's Relativity Theory.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The extraordinary interest displayed by the general public in relativity is one of the most curious of contemporary phenomena. Comparatively few people yet understand the theory. There is an irrepressible curiosity concerning it. People expect to learn it without studying it. They imagine that they can learn it in an hour by hearing an exposition of it by a master. Some time ago a lecture on rela-tivity was announced to be given in the American Museum of Natural History. The crowd of people who waited to attend the lecture was so great that it blocked the approaches to the lecture, and the police reserves had to be called out to disperse the crowd, which was harmless enough, being merely actuated by irrepressible, unappeasable curiosity.

Professor Albert Einstein is, at the time of writing, lecturing on his own theories at Oxford university. So great was the crowd on the first day and so determined were they to hear the lecture to which admittance was not allowed, that the whole force of Oxford door-keepers was required to hold the crowd back.
Had all been permitted to enter they would have been little better off at the end of the lecture than at the beginning, outside the hall.
For although Professor Einstein is a lucid and forceful lecturer, deep and sustained study is required in order to grasp the theory in its entirety.

In his lecture, Einstein pointed out that any important scientific theory must accomplish two things if it is to fulfill the highest functions of science. It must not violate what are known and established as the laws of phenomena. Moreover, the thoroughgoing theory must not stop with explaining the known facts of nature and explaining discrepancies. It must go further and tell what will happen under suitably chosen circumstances. The comprehensive and far-reaching scientific theory must take on the role of prophecy. It must predict, and predict successfully, what will happen.

There is a third requirement which, perhaps, is not fully filled or satisfied by rela-tivity—that is, as judged by the layman, the comprehensive theory must not be a mass of complicated assumptions, a puzzling postulated and incomprehensible notions. It must deal in a large, but elemental way with the basic problems of nature and lay down a few assumptions or axioms which are simple, natural, logical and consistent among themselves.
Their inconsistency with each other, in other words, their incompatibility, might not be apparent at first—if they were inherently incompatible. But if you develop the theory logically, this incompatibility will eventually reveal itself.

Einstein explains that his theory of geometry —that is, of space and time—is superior to that of Euclid. And for a number of reasons.
Euclid's theory was a restricted one; it only considered one kind of space. Indeed, it could not be incorrect to assert that Euclid thought there was only one kind of space, and that space was the space of the world, of external nature. But Einstein shows that, by using the conception of a modern mathematician, Riemann, he has been able to devise a theory vastly more comprehensive than the geometry of Euclid and the mechanics of Newton. It includes their work as sound and valuable, but only as special, as particular cases, in a larger and far more comprehensive description of nature.—Copyright, 1931, Inter-

Militarism in Ohio.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Somewhat against the claims of the opponents of military training, it can be shown that in spite of all that the state has done in this line, and all that they have been inveigh-ing against, Ohio, so far as the state government is concerned, is far less militaristic than it formerly was.

Probably no one male citizen in 5,000 now ever receives any kind of military training, or renders any peace-time military service, either voluntarily or involuntarily, whereas in the early history of the state every male citizen in the state between the ages of eighteen and forty-five was required to register for military training, to equip himself for military service at his own expense, and to report four times a year for drill with his company, and once a year for drill and training with his regiment.
These occasions were called "muster days," and while the training was of short duration in either case, and often took the place of a vacation from regular business and occupation, the requirement was in substance exactly what Germany before the revolution there, Germany which was the most militaristic country in the world, was requiring of its young men.

These exceptions to the requirement were crippled men and Quakers and members of other religious organizations opposed to warfare. And even the "conscientious objectors" did not wholly escape this burden, for while they were not compelled to report and drill, each person so excused was obliged to pay into the state military funds the sum of three dollars a year, which went to the regiment to which he would have been attached if reporting.

The state went further; it required each man subject to this military duty to keep himself equipped with a rifle, bayonet, knapsack, ammunition and three flints. Yet the soil of the state has never been touched by invasion but twice—by Procter in the War of 1812 and John Morgan in the Civil war. The water on which the battle of Put-in-Bay was fought was within the state's boundaries.

Dinner Stories.

"Is your wife a careful driver?"
"Well, she drives a sort of worm-fashion."
"How do you mean, worm-fashion?"
"The worm turns, you know, but it never signals which way it is going to."

"Was your wife born with a silver spoon in her mouth?"
"No, with a can opener in her hand, I imagine."

"I'm down and out, and that's the plain truth, your worship," said a prisoner in an English court.

"Not exactly," returned the judge. "You're down, but you're not out—six months."

Old Lady, at the zoo—"Is that a man-eating lion?" Fed-up Keeper—"Yes, lady, but we're short of man this week, so all he gets is beef."

Maud—"Did you hear what your friend Edith said about you?" Marie—"No, I was in the other group talking about her."

Clark—"They say that a common misfortune binds people closer." Cyrus—"Unless it is the common misfortune of being married to one another."

"How did you like my sermon Sunday?" asked the modern clergyman.
"I—er—couldn't quite get you."
"Too much theology?"
"No, too much static."

HOOVER PICKS NEW ROUTE

Will Touch Eight States in Trip to Marion and Other Points.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Hoover has decided to take a new route west on his three-day speaking trip beginning June 15, it was learned today at the White House.

He has accepted a longer railroad run to his first stop, Indianapolis, in order that he may see the people of a territory seldom entered by a president—Kentucky and West Virginia. He will also arrange to visit eight states and speak in three.

Ordinarily, on trips west, Presidents have gone by direct routes through Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The new route will take the executive through Charlottesville, Va., Huntington and Charleston, W. Va., several small towns in Kentucky, and Cincinnati.

Mr. Hoover has virtually decided at the three speeches he will deliver at the Indiana Republican Editors' association, Indianapolis, June 16, at Marion, O., and dedication of the Lincoln memorial, June 17, at Springfield, Ill. Tentative plans call for much traveling during daylight hours. This also is being arranged to permit the executive to see and be seen by as many people as possible. He expects to remain overnight at Indianapolis in order that he may make the trip to Columbus, Mo., the morning of June 18. He will review the encampment of the G. A. R. there before boarding his train again for an hour's ride to Marion.

Legs Artificial, but Boy Leads Police Good Chase

CLEVELAND, O., June 4.—Although both of his legs are artificial, a 13-year-old boy who allegedly attempted to break into a restaurant here today, led two policemen on a chase lasting for several blocks before the youth was captured.

At central police station, the lad admitted the attempted robbery and confessed to five other burglaries, police said. He lost both his legs in an accident several years ago, he told police.

EXPENSE CUT $116,000

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., June 4.—By adjusting its operating schedule for next year, the Columbus school board has saved $116,000. Plans to employ 50 additional teachers were abandoned. Salaries were unchanged.

WOMAN STRANDED

SANDUSKY, O., June 4.—When her clothing caught in a washing machine at her home in Cassalia, six miles west of here, last night, Mrs. M. W. Gardner, 23, was strangled to death. The machinery pulled her garments off and knotted them about her neck.

LAND VALUES MUST BE FAIR

State Tax Officials Talk on Revaluation at Mansfield Meeting.

Boards of revision from eight central Ohio counties, including Marion county, heard representatives of the state taxing commission discuss the reappraisal now under way in the state and plan for a fair valuation of real estate for taxing purposes at one of a series of district meetings of revision boards in the state at Mansfield yesterday.

Regardless of the governmental needs of tax revenue, the valuation of lands and buildings for taxing purposes should be fixed equitably, Senator John S. Edwards of the tax commission said. If shortage of tax revenue results from a fair and just reappraisal, it is up to the legislature to take the necessary corrective step, Edwards said.

Discussion yesterday also centered largely around means of making the values of lands and buildings in this district uniform during the reappraisal.

County Auditor Earl E. Thomas, County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton and County Commissioner O. W. Kinnaman, comprising the Marion county board of revision, represented this county at the meeting.

Similar groups from Delaware, Hancock, Morrow, Knox, Richland, Holmes and Crawford county attended the all day session.

BISHOPS VICTORS IN TORRID BATTLE WITH LEE STREET NINE, 3-2

Methodist Hang Up Second Win in Thrilling Game at Lincoln Park.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

CLINGING tenaciously to a slight advantage obtained in the first inning the Epworth Bishop's yesterday rang up their second victory in four starts, defeating the Lee Street Presbyterians 3 to 2 in a torrid battle on the Lincoln park diamond. The victory elevated the Methodists into a tie with St. Mary and the Lutherans for third place in the No. 1 Sunday school league standings and dropped Lee Street into a deadlock with Epworth Seniors for sixth place.

It was as good a ball game as has been seen in the city recreation baseball this summer. Several errors were chalked up, most of them on the winning side but they only served to make the game more of a thriller. Only one of the Epworth misplays anything as far as the score was concerned. For that matter only one of the Lee Street misplays meant any runs but the one run that came on the latter team's error cost them the chance for a tie score.

Kerr Gets Homer
J. Kerr of Lee Street opened the scoring in the first inning when he drove out a four base clout over the Epworth left fielder's head. No one was on at the time.

In the second half of the first inning Epworth jumped onto Henry Crabtree for two hits, which combined with a pair of errors netted three runs, enough to win the ball game. Fetter and Roush scored for the Methodists on a screaming triple by Mautz and Mautz walked home with what proved to be the winning run when Lee Street's right fielder

Lumpkin Signed in Headliner of Mat Program

Clyde Robinson and "Father" Lumpkin will meet again on the Steam Shovel gym mat next Monday night in the feature attraction of a three-match wrestling card. Their go will be a two-falls-to-win match.

Robinson and Lumpkin stole the show when they appeared here two weeks ago as the semi-final attraction. After they had finished, the main go seemed as tame as a sewing circle meeting.

Lumpkin has no use for Robinson and Robinson has never expressed any particular friendship for the football star. You can draw your own conclusions.

When they met two weeks ago Referee Kauffman stopped the match and awarded a fall to Lumpkin when Robinson insisted on using the triangle hold as well as punching with his fists. The referee's decision did not satisfy the members of the boxing commission and the go was declared a draw.

Robinson has a reputation for rough stuff. Out of 25 matches in which he has participated he has been disqualified in all but four.

When the boys enter the ring Monday night they will be instructed to take care of themselves with nothing short of murder barred. From this angle Robinson looks the part of the winner unless Lumpkin picks up a few new points about the grunting game between now and then.

SOCK 'EM, HACK!

1930 Home Run King Gets Another Shot at Comback.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 4.—Hack Wilson, home run king of 1930, has been given another chance to come back with the Cubs.

He was inserted in the lineup again yesterday when Johnny Moore reported with a slight leg injury. Moore expected to be back in the game in a few days, however, unless Hack made good.

So far this season, Wilson's bat has been impotent of his usual production of hits. In 108 times at bat, he has cracked but 27 hits for a total of 43 bases. His home run bat has yielded dividends but twice.

VOSMIK AIDS INDIANS RUN WINNING STREAK TO NINE AT BOSTON

Grove Wins Eighth Straight Game for Champion Philadelphia A's.

BY GALE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Although their chances seem more or less hopeless in the face of the Athletics' phenomenal streak, Walter Johnson's Washington Senators are living up to their promise to give the champions a run for their money in the American League.

While the New York Yankees have dropped back the last fortnight, the Senators have plugged along, winning 10 of their last 14 engagements. They are five games behind the Mackmen and two ahead of the Yankees.

The Senators, in fact, have done as well as Johnson predicted they would. The champions registered their twenty-third victory in their last twenty-six starts. Lefty Grove, last night's starter, pitched his eighth straight win, let the Chicago White Sox down with six hits and beat them, 2 to 1.

Washington kept pace with its

SAINTS' LEAD CUT AS LOUISVILLE WINS, 6-4

Red Birds of Columbus Slipping; Toledo Loses to Indians.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 4.—St. Paul's front row seat in the American association pennant show tottered again today. The Colonels from Louisville were doing the shoving.

The Colonels gained one full game on the pennant-leading Saints yesterday and drew up within a half-game of the lead by defeating Columbus, 6 to 4, while Kansas City edged out the Saints 2 to 1. A repetition of yesterday's fortunes today would reverse the standing of the two teams.

Columbus hammered out 10 hits to duplicate the Colonels' batting punch yesterday but failed to bunch them.

The St. Paul-Kansas City game was a pitching duel between Bayne of the Blues and Murphy of the Saints. Dunlap scored the winning run in the sixth, walking, hitting to third on Treadway's single and coming home on an infield out.

Minneapolis won a fancy free-hitting game from Milwaukee, 9 to 3. High did most of the heavy stick work, driving in four runs with three hits.

In a night game at the Hoosier capital, the Indianapolis club took the Mudhens of Toledo, 6 to 4.

Marion Man Leads in Trapshooting Tourney

DAYTON, O., June 4.—Approximately 200 Ohio marksmen were due on the Vandalla range today to compete for the state singles trapshooting titles in both men's and women's divisions.

The field was double that of yesterday, the opening day of the annual tournament, when J. F. Helstead of Hillsboro broke 198 targets out of a possible 200 to win the class A championship.

Helstead broke 195 targets in a row. He was closely pressed by H. W. Abell of Cleveland, who scored 197, and Charles M. Young of Springfield, who was next with 196.

The best score of the day, however, was 199 made by D. L. Richie of Goshen, O., in the class B championship.

L. C. Turnock of Cleveland, with 196, won class C honors. E. J. Hulin of Marion, led class E with 188 and John R. Taylor of Newark topped the professionals with 193.

Active Rally in Rails Stimulates Wall Street; Bond Market Improved.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market refused to be depressed by quick profit-taking today and after some hesitation in the earlier hours resumed its advance under the stimulating leadership of an actively rising in the rails. Bonds also improved.

Realizing sales followed an irregular opening, but declines on this sort of selling were confined to moderate proportions and the appearance of support discouraged professional bears who had regarded yesterday's boom as temporary. Rally seemed to be helped by news that the interstate commerce commission had permitted the Great Northern to increase freight rates on coal into the northwest, apparently viewing this decision with an eye to the rate request planned by the carriers east of the Mississippi.

Net gains of 3 to 4 points or more were common in the carrier stocks, embracing New York Central, Erie, Chicago & North Western, Rock Island, Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville, Union Pacific and others. Industrial and utilities rallied less vigorously, but U. S. Steel crossed 91 and American Can got back to 100.

American Telephone more than recovered an early loss of nearly 3 points and other prominent issues made corresponding progress. Eastman Kodak soared several points in response to the statement on 1931 prospects, National Lead was especially strong.
